

Marquette Says ...

"That's all Folks!"™

TM & (c) Warner Bros. 1993

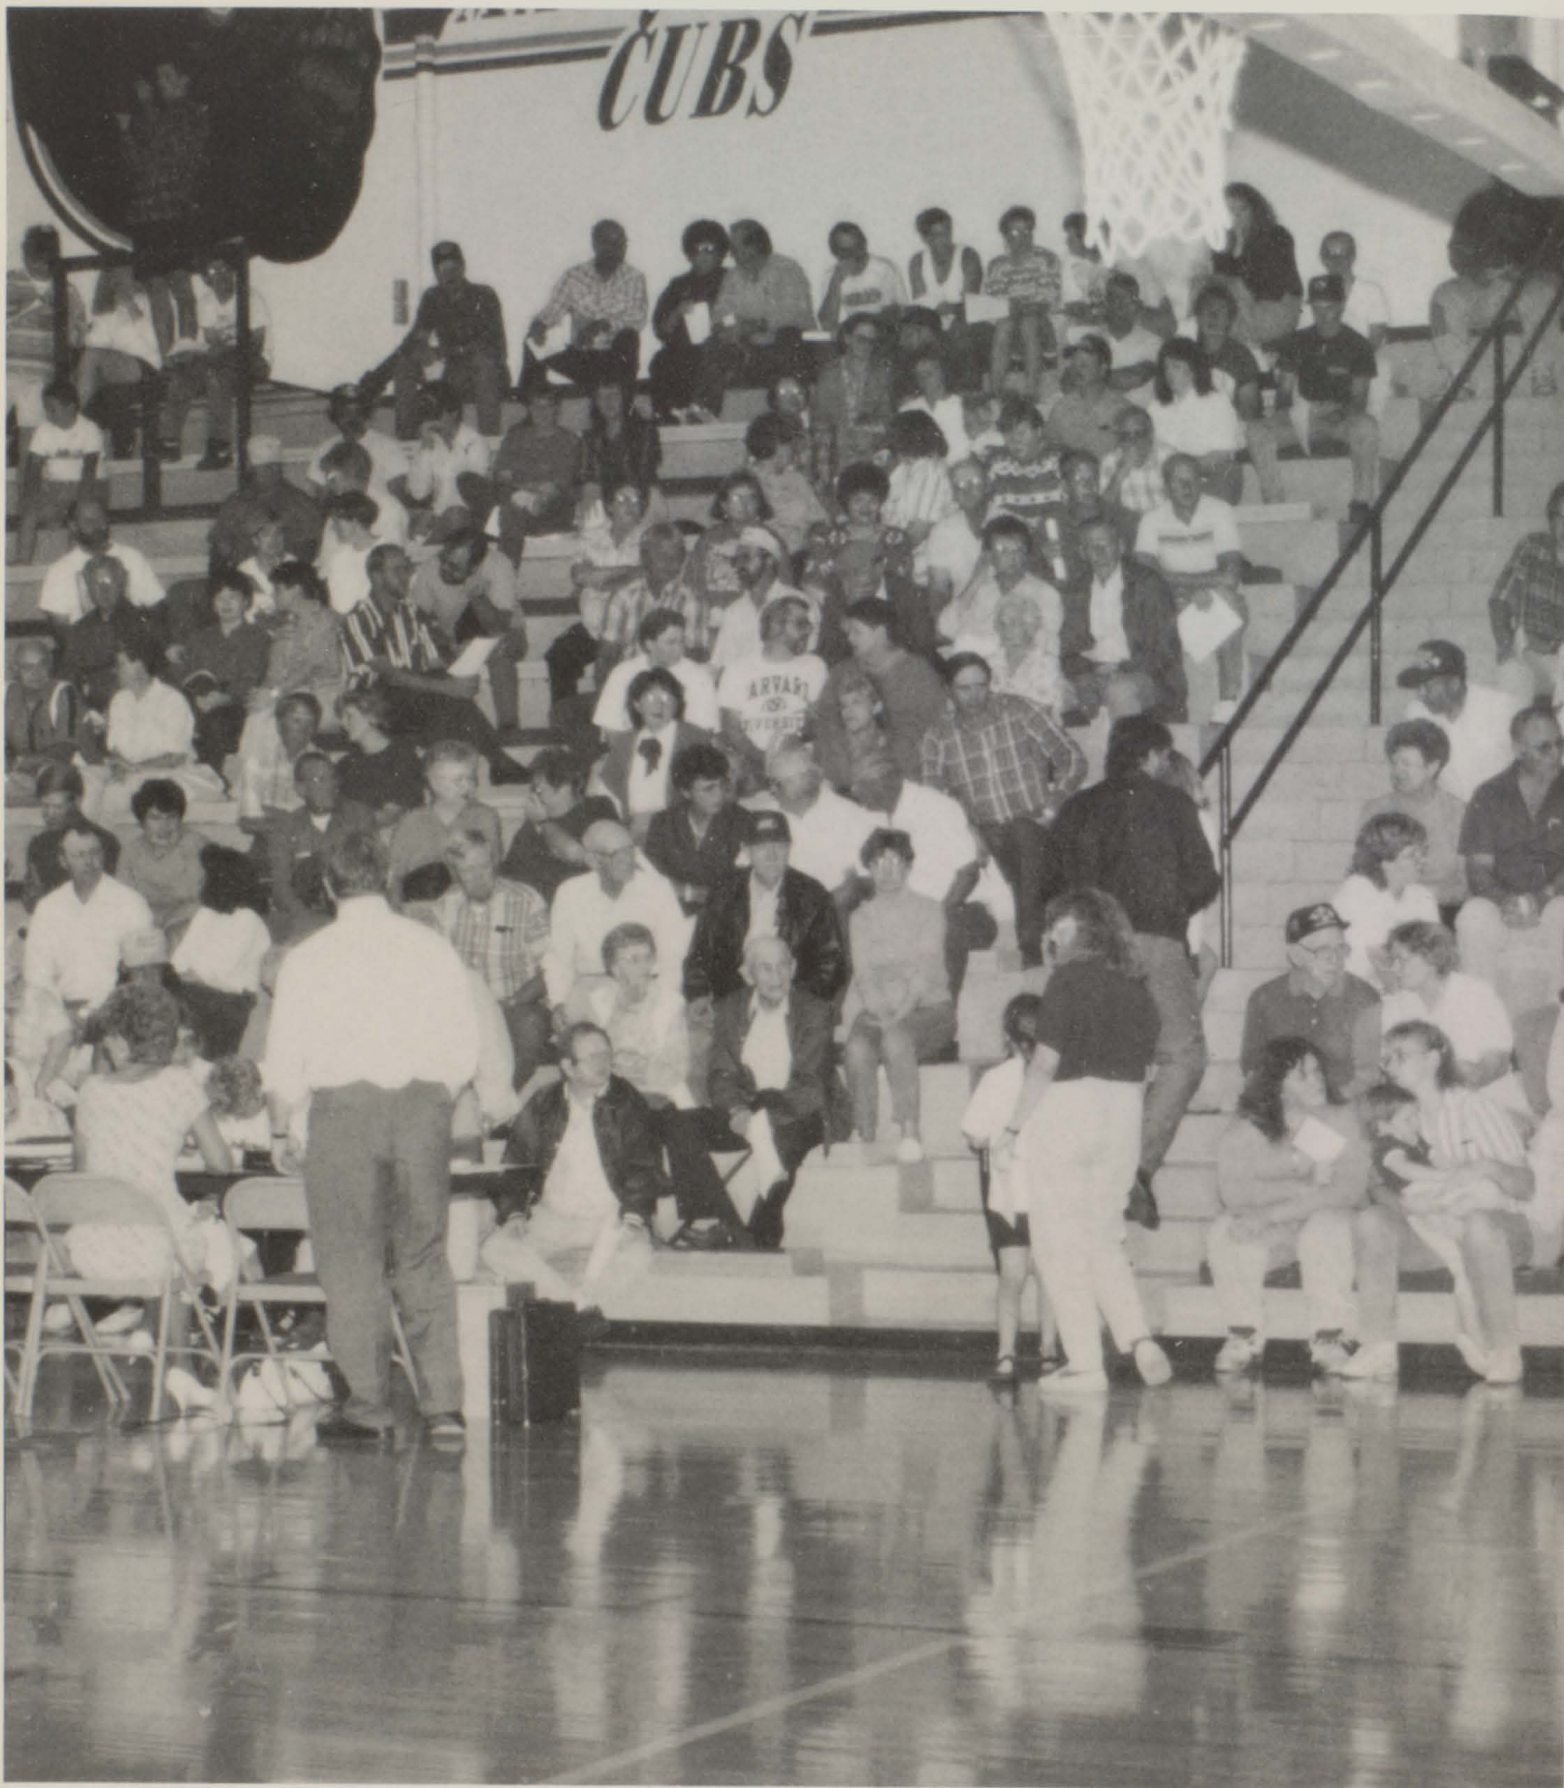

Marquette has seen a great number of students, uniform changes, and a number of champions crowned.

Marquette Public Schools

P.O. Box 100
Marquette, NE 68854

On September 9, 1993 the patrons of Marquette gathered together to determine the fate of their school.

History In The Making!

The Final Vote

By nearly a 2 to 1 margin, the voters of Marquette decided that their school should become a Class I district for students in kindergarten through the eighth grade. The effective date was June 1, 1994.

The vote was held at a special meeting on September 9, 1993 in the Marquette school gymnasium with 204 in favor of reclassification and 107 against.

The proposition the voters faced was this: Should Marquette's District 1 school discontinue the high school, grades 9 through 12, at the close of the 1993-94 school year and become a Class I school district, K-8, on June 1, 1994?

In order to pass, 55 percent of the voters present had to support the proposition. The final tally was well above that.

At the time of the vote, Marquette had 102 students in kindergarten through the 12th grade. Twenty-eight students were in grades 9 through 12 and that figure was expected to be one less the following year. They should be easily absorbed into the neighboring high schools.

Clayton Nelson, president of the board, said the big margin in the vote made the outcome easier on the board. "I'm glad, whatever the decision is, it's a big margin. And I'm glad it's over," he said.

A second vote was taken to determine if the school should contract out the seventh and eighth graders to the area schools of Polk-Hordville, Aurora, Hampton and Central City. The vote of 170 to 158 was in favor of contracting out the seventh and eighth graders.

Superintendent Holt said the vote came as no surprise to him or probably the town's residents. "It was the most economical way of handling the business for the new school," he said.

AND IT ALL BEGAN WITH A TEACHER

All across America, school bells have rung. From the building blocks of preschool to the textbooks of college, and all grades in between, teachers are at their desks. They are as varied as crayons in a crayola box. Some are bright, some dull, some new, some old; but for all their differences teachers share the same goal, to impart knowledge, and color a student's life with the rainbow of learning, challenge, and growth.

Teachers really do have lives of their own, but sometimes, it's hard to believe, for they arrive at school when morning has not yet fully come awake, and stay while the darkness of night descend on the playgrounds outside their window.

There was a time when they only had to worry about filing grades and poor conduct, but like worn out history books, those days are now gone. Today teachers are expected to be surrogate parents, psychologists, part time policemen, nurses, comforters, and miracle workers. The importance of the basic 3 R's have been replaced by the reality of the D's: drugs, divorce, despair. And yet through it all, and perhaps because of it all, teachers keep right on teaching, trying harder than ever before to gift their students with food educations, self worth, the opportunities to excel and believe in themselves by discovering their talents and abilities whether in the classroom, on the playing field, or soaring to new heights when their imaginations and dreams are encouraged.

On any given school day teachers open up, for a lifetime the magnificent gift of reading, the ongoing puzzles of math, the adventures of geography and science, the legacy and lessons of history, the beauty of art, music, literature, languages, the excitement of computer technology, the demands and accomplishment of physical ed. and sports.

They are loved and hated, respected and derided, remembered and forgotten. They are laughed with, laughed at, and laughed about. They raise their own families and are devoted to someone else's children. They pay for the stickers that delight a little child's heart, slip warm mittens into the pocket of the student that has none, provide a classroom of security when home is a battleground, tutor after school, guide the pregnant teen, cheer at games, counsel troubled hearts, and fall asleep wondering why they feel so tired.

Teachers are the reasons airplanes fly, computers program, ballets are danced, novels are written, cancer researched, lawsuits won, skyscrapers built, and "art" decorates refrigerator doors. Life's biggest, boldest, brightest ideas; life's honors, achievements and accomplishments occur, because somewhere, sometime, someone touched our lives and it all began with a teacher.

A Step Up!

"Boys??!!..." Tanya Horner

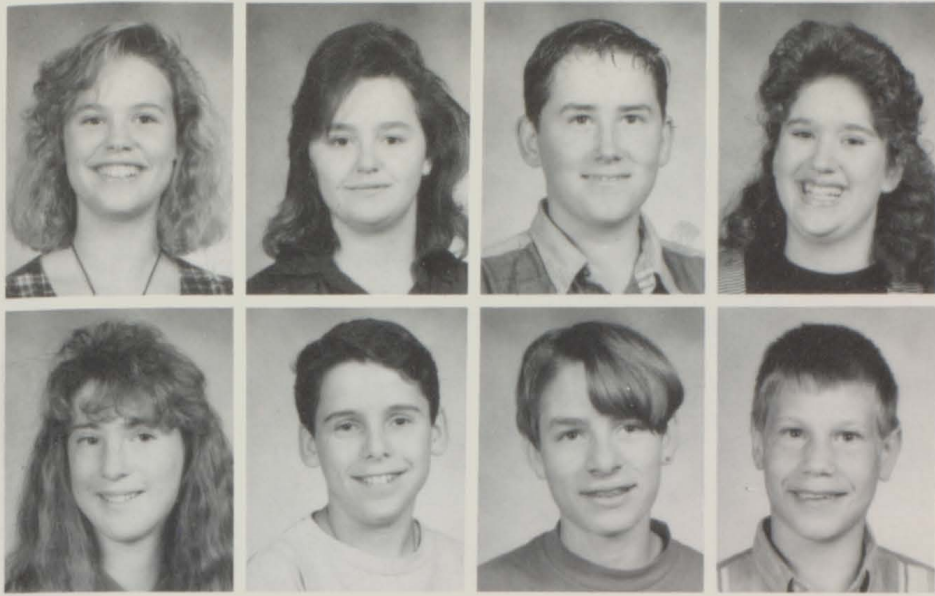

Seventh Grade is a time for new experiences, new friends, new beginnings, and at many times these new experiences can be overwhelming. Seventh Grade is the time to experience different sports and the many new freedoms that come with being in Junior High.

Through extra-curricular activities, they had the chance to meet new friends from all over, but the old remain just as precious as the new.

As seventh graders, they started to compete in sports, and were also allowed to attend high school dances with the upper classmen.

OUT LOUD!!

The Eighth Graders may be small in number but they make up for it in volume. With the Eighth graders you always know where they are!

The heading for this class is not to slander, but to show their loud and outstanding personalities. Every teacher, who was asked about this class replied with a swift answer: "THEY'RE TOO LOUD." One teacher in particular replied, "Oh, they're so loud, and they never run out of energy. I mean they're hyperactive." So if you were to choose two words, "TOO LOUD", takes the prize.

Besides being Too Loud, the Eighth Grade also enjoyed playing volleyball, basketball, participationg in clubs, and attending dances.

Will going to another school tone them DOWN?? What do you think?

Freshmen

The Freshmen will have to make a decision this next year. That decision will be what school to attend. We asked them how they felt about the school closing. Elizabeth: "If only people could understand that smaller schools are better than big ones, because they have more of a chance to experience things that most kids wouldn't in a big school. More chance to learn and understand." What college they were going to. Joey: "University of Nebraska at Lincoln, hopefully majoring in the medical profession." And what they will miss most about Marquette. Larissa: "That's hard to say, there is a lot I'll miss-the teachers, friends, but probably, I'll miss the closeness most of all."

What's in store for next year?

The final year for Marquette came, and with it the sad reality of not being able to graduate from Marquette as well as the tough decision of what school they should attend next.

Although they will be split up next year, they will not forget memories they brought to Marquette throughout their elementary and Senior High years.

The Sophomores gained a new classmate just before the second semester. Jason Jensen came to Marquette from Central City and was welcomed by everyone.

Planning to attend a new school involves a lot more than someone might think. For example, many of the Sophomores had to take some extra classes in order to meet the requirements of the school they will attend.

For the last Sophomore class of Marquette High, this was definitely a year to remember!

Do you feel that you will receive a better education at a larger school?

"No, because in a large school there is less one-on-one attention for each student, and I feel that when that is gone a lot is lost in the quality of an education."

-Jerrid Christenson

"No, because I don't feel that I will get the extra help that I do now at Marquette."

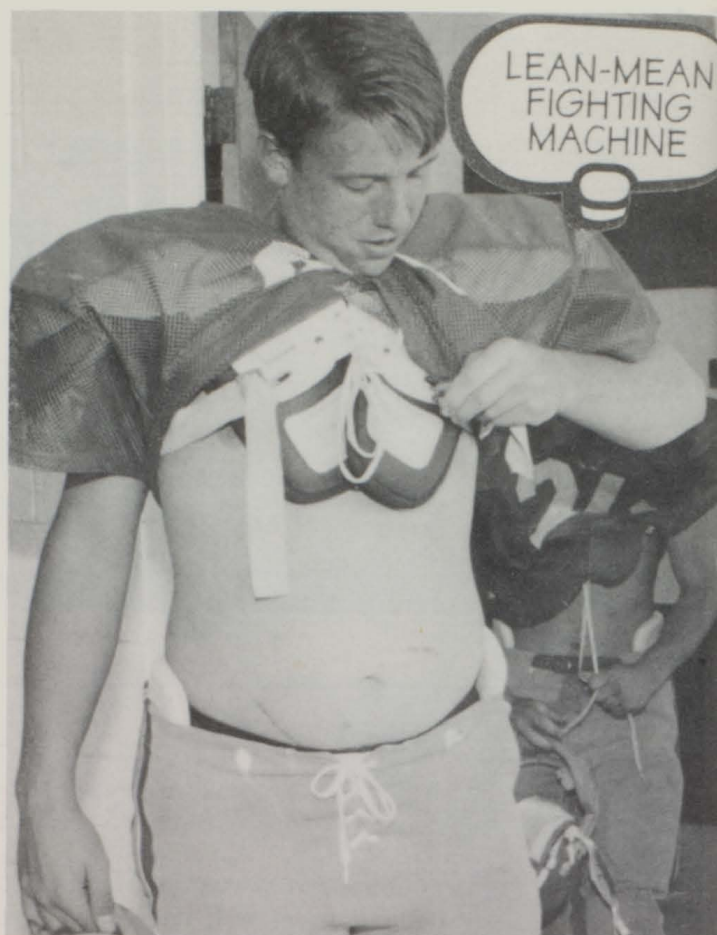

-Maxine Jenkins

ecisions...

As the year rolled to an end, the Juniors had a tough decision ahead of them. Four out of the seven students had attended Marquette since they were Kindergarteners. Next year, they must find another school to attend. There were several mixed feelings about attending another school; however, the consensus was one of unhappiness. Most wanted to spend their last year in high school at Marquette.

One Junior took it upon herself to graduate from Marquette this year. Kimberly Dawn Ruzicka is that lone Junior. Kimberly decided to combine her Junior and Senior years. While Kimberly was doubling her class schedule, the rest of the Juniors were searching for another school to attend.

We wish the Juniors all the luck in attempting to find another school; however, we know they will never forget Marquette High School, their memories, or their friends!

Student Views...

Shannon Rouse felt, "Closing the high school was a hasty decision not very well thought out. However on the positive side at least I will have an opportunity to attend another school."

Aric Brophy thought, "It's sad that the school is closing. I wished it would've stayed open long enough for me to graduate since my whole family has attended and graduated from Marquette."

The Final Set!

It was a tough season for the Lady Cubs, who ended up 0 - 11. Injuries, inexperience, and just plain bad luck plagued the team from beginning to end.

The team consisted of nine players and Emily Mersch and Ruth Ziegler were coaches for the final season in Marquette's history. Returning letterwinners were Amelia Nelson, Carrie Brophy, and Dara Andersen.

The team had T-shirts printed, stating the fact that it was the "final set". Many of the schools expressed their sadness that Marquette will no longer be in their conference.

Carrie expresses her pregame jitters by attaching herself to the lockers in the boys locker room.

As Shannon sets the ball, Elizabeth waits to assist.

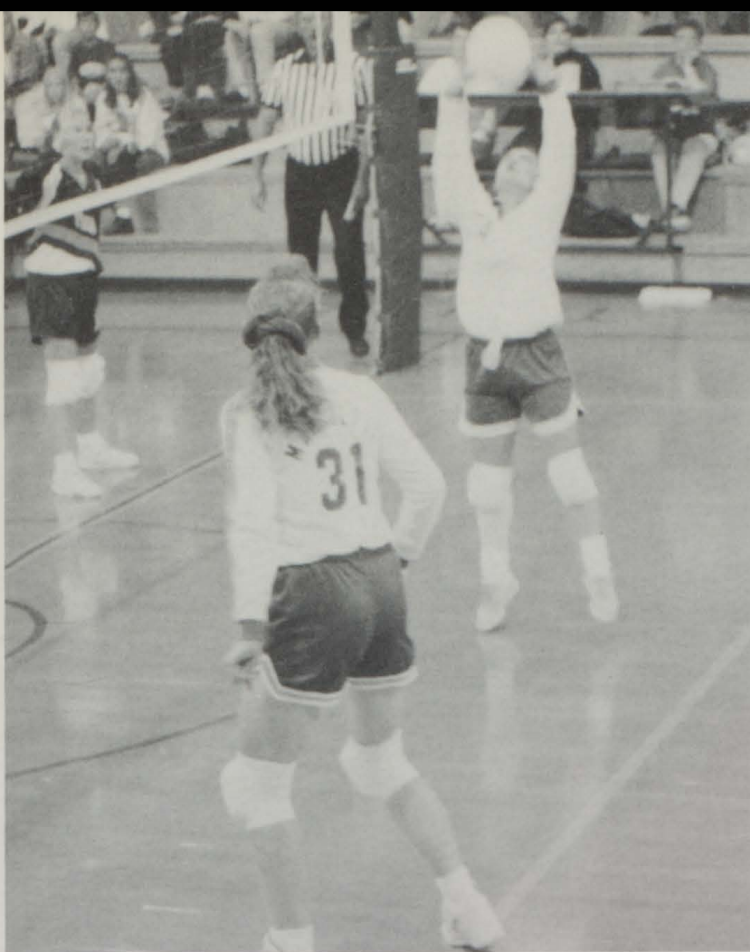

"Come on guys, haven't you found it yet? The game is gonna start." (The Lady Cubs's famous pregame chant.)

Amelia shows us her form as she serves the volleyball and tries to make an ace out of her serve.

Brenda Young attempts to block a spike as Carrie and Liz eagerly anticipate the ball.

Injuries Plague Cubs

Marquette's final football season began with two goals in mind. One was a winning season and the other was a trip to the state playoffs. The Cubs began the season with a loss to Prague. The Cubs rebounded well though, by winning the next four games. In that four week span the Cubs averaged 43.5 points per game while holding the opposing teams to just 19.3 points per game. The sixth game is when the injuries struck. During the Hildreth game Shelton Crouch and Brent Jensen both sustained neck injuries that ended the game with just over two minutes to play in the first quarter. Both boys were taken by ambulance to the Kearney hospital. The diagnosis for both boys was cervical strains. That forfeit ended the Cubs hopes of a play-off birth. Shelton's injury was season ending, and Brent was just out for one week. Since the Cubs had seven players, the two injuries caused the Cubs to forfeit their next game against Monroe. After a two week layoff, the Cubs were anxious to get back on the playing field, where they would play Lawrence. The third injury took place during the second quarter. Travis Crouch was stopping a touchdown run when he injured his neck. Travis was taken to the Hastings hospital by ambulance. His diagnosis was a strain of the neck. Since the Cubs started the game with only six players, they had to forfeit their third game in a row. The forfeit put the Cubs record at 4-4. The final game of the campaign was against Spalding High. Spalding did not have enough players at the beginning of the season to have a team so the Cubs won the last game by forfeit, putting their record at 5-4. They did not accomplish both goals, but they were satisfied with a winning record to end the final football season for the Marquette Cubs.

HOMECOMING "THIS IS IT"

This is it, Homecoming 1994, the last one in the history of Marquette High!

Homecoming activities started on Monday, September 24th with the beginning of spirit week. Monday was Greek Day, Tuesday was 50's Day, Wednesday was Cowboy Day, Thursday was Come As You Are Day, and Friday was Blue and Gold Day.

Throughout the week the individual classes worked on their Homecoming walls. The walls were judged on Friday afternoon. The Seniors won 1st place, the Juniors came in 2nd, and the Sophomores received 3rd. Those people that got awards for Spirit Week were: Greek Day-Aric Bophy and Sara Manka; 50's Day-Brandi Jensen and Joe Kisler; Cowboy Day-Derek Ortegren and Dorinda Regier; Come As You Are

Day-Brent Jensen and Shannon Rouse; Blue and Gold Day-Dara Andersen and Jeff Allen.

There was a Pep-Rally and afterwards a parade on Main Street in the afternoon.

On Friday night the Volleyball and Football teams both faced the Trumbull Bearcats. During half-time, 28 past Kings and Queens were presented.

The coronation was held after the football game. The 1993-94 Homecoming King and Queen was Brent Jensen and Carrie Brophy. Last year's King and Queen; Jim Boyce and Brenda Koehler, crowned the Homecoming royalty. Crown Bearers were Thomas Hermansen and Gabrielle Nelson.

Aric: "I hate these new school uniforms"

What did you like the best about Homecoming?

Jerriid: "The best part about Homecoming was winning the game."

Amelia: "I liked the Football win, decorating, and the Dance."

Jerry: "The Football game was my favorite."

Kathy: "The decorations on the walls, Cheerleader's routine, and the announcing of past Kings and Queens."

One Last Cheer

This year's sponsor, Ms. Lionberger, brought in a number of fresh ideas for Marquette High's last cheerleading squad.

The theme for Marquette's last Homecoming was "This is it!" Spirit Week consisted of a variety of activities. This included a different theme for each day, prizes, the selecting of a King and Queen, the Volleyball and Football game, and a dance.

The cheerleaders performed a high-energy routine to the hot song "No Limit" by 2 Unlimited and did another routine for basketball at Parent's Night to the song "Get Together."

It was hard cheering at those last football and basketball games knowing there would be no other cheerleading squad on the football field or cheering for a varsity or jr. varsity basketball game.

Along with a new sponsor, the 92-93 cheerleaders Amelia Nelson and Kathy Penner were joined by Carrie Brophy, Gena White, and Elizabeth Tadlock with Brenda Young as the Cub. Brenda was replaced with Shannon Rouse during the basketball season.

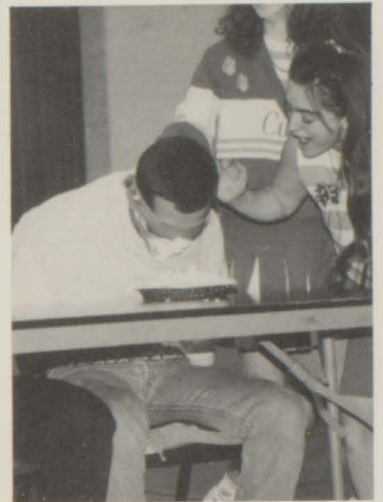

The 93-94 cheerleading squad is (top to bottom) Amelia Nelson, Elizabeth Tadlock, Gena White, Kathy Penner, and Carrie Brophy

Marquette Cubs Basketball

Is Derek reaching for the stars, or is he showing us his freethrow technique?

Brent goes in for a high percentage shot against Polk-Hordville, but they ended up losing the contest by six.

Marquette's final boy's basketball campaign ended with a bang, although they had a relatively slow start. The Cubs started off with a disappointing loss to Exeter. Marquette lost by 7 points even though Coach Ahern was not there, and then were led by Assistant Coach Kisler. They picked up their first victory on the last game before Christmas break. They beat Dorchester by 31 points. The Cubs picked up their second win after Christmas break by defeating Fairmont. The Cubs won two weeks later against McCool Junction and then started to decline a little. The Cubs went on a losing skid that they didn't recover from until two weeks before districts began. Marquette won a fantastic game at Elba by coming back by ten points in the final period to win in the final seconds. The next game was the season finale and the last home basketball game ever to be played at Marquette. The Cubs beat Bradshaw handily to put their regular season record at 5-11. The Cubs continued their winning streak in the first round of Districts by beating McCool Junction. Their next opponent in Districts was Rising City. The Cubs went into halftime playing well and were behind by a few points. The second half spelled disaster for the Cubs which caused them to lose the game. All-in-all the Cubs were proud of their season.

There were also some awards to go along with the season: Brent Jensen was elected to the All-Conference 2nd team and will also play in the All-Star game which will have the top seniors of the Golden Rod Conference and the Crossroad Conference compete against each other. He also received Honorable Mention in the G.I. Paper and the Omaha World Herald. Shelton Crouch was elected as an alternate to the All-Star game as well. He received Honorable Mention in the Omaha World Herald. Joe Kisler also received Honorable Mention in the G.I. paper and Honorable Mention in the Omaha World Herald.

Jerrid plays man-to-man defense against a Bradshaw player. Marquette won the game by 31 points.

The Cubs come out of an intense time-out and are ready to show the crowd what they can really do.

Dribble...Pass...Shoot

It's a bird, It's a plane....
Amelia...AIRBORNE!!

The saying "If at first you don't succeed...try, try again," had a lot of meaning for the Lady Cubs in their last basketball season. Because of having a team with only seven players, they had a rough start. Even though the Lady Cubs didn't have any victories, they had fun and it was an experience they won't forget.

The team consisted of three seniors, one junior, one sophomore, and two freshmen.

The girls started out kind of slow, but by the end of the season, they were getting into the groove of really playing basketball. In the eyes of most players, the last game played,

"Now, which basket is ours?"

Amelia Nelson, Senior

"Use the backboard!"

"I did, but it keeps bouncing off!"

Gena White, Sophomore

against Bradshaw, was the most well-played game of the season. The girls really worked as a team. The following players were interviewed on their thoughts about the basketball season. Shannon Rouse, a junior, said "It wasn't very productive, but it was one of the most enjoyable times that I've had in a long time.

Amelia Nelson, a senior, thought "It was a learning experience for me." It also taught her that teamwork is a valuable part of winning and that to be successful, you must learn to lose gracefully.

To end on a high note...we grew as a team and had fun playing basketball.

"Man, shooting baskets really drains your bodily fluids and gives you dehydration!"

Above: We found out that teamwork is a valuable part of having a fun basketball season.

Cubs Qualify

Jensen, Kisler, & Crouch for State Track Meet

The Marquette boys track team went out with a bang. In the last meet they competed in together, they had three qualify for the State Track Meet at Omaha Burke. State qualifiers were Joe Kisler (discus), Shelton Crouch (110m high hurdles), and Brent Jensen (long and triple jump). The remaining team members set personal records quite often. Other members include Amelia Nelson, Carrie Brophy, Larissa Jones, and Joey Berck.

FFA Goes Wild

The FFA has done many wild things this year. They were able to compete in District Land Judging, District Welding, and the District Livestock Mangement competiotion. They also competed in State Welding and State Livestock.

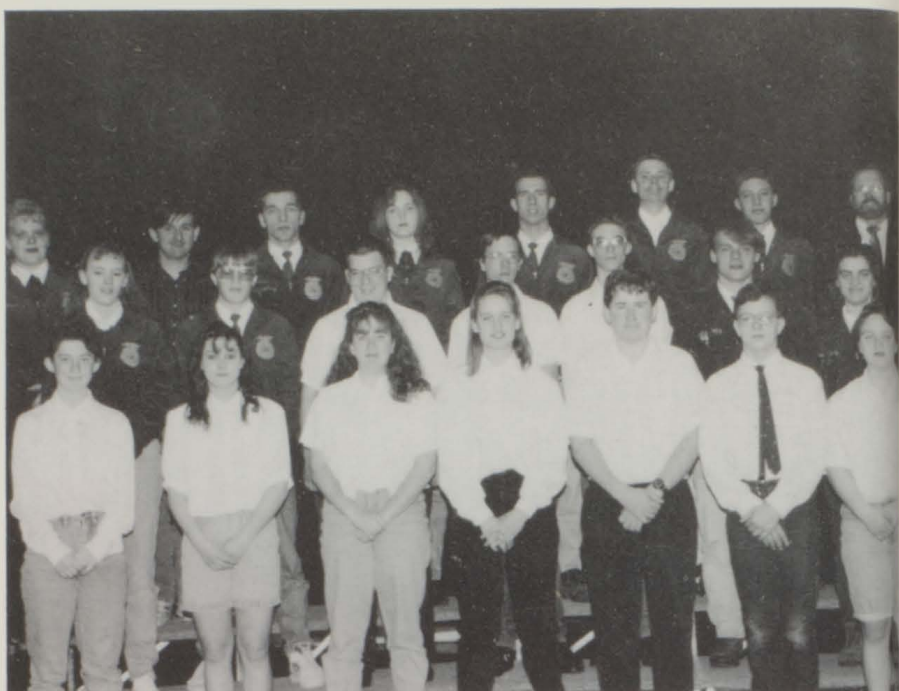

The FFA took some time out of their busy schudule to attend National Convention in Kansas City. Most of the students in the grades 7-12 were treated to a day of learning by travleing as the FFA took them on a tour of Iams and of the Ford New Holland companies. The FFA also went camping in the Reyner's pasture and had a swimming party at the Leadership center Aurora.

The Officers for the 93-94 school year were President: Derek Ortegren, Vice President: Carrie Brophy, Secetary: Kathy Penner, Treasurer: Kevin Christenson, Sentinel: Jeff Allen, and Parliamentarian: Aric Brophy.

The FHA has done many things to be proud of this year. To start with they were able to take a tour of the Home Ec. Department at the Unbiveristy of Lincoln, They also were able to organize a cookbook that was sold to the public in April. The response for the cookbooks were able to collect 350 recipes and sell over 300 cookbooks.

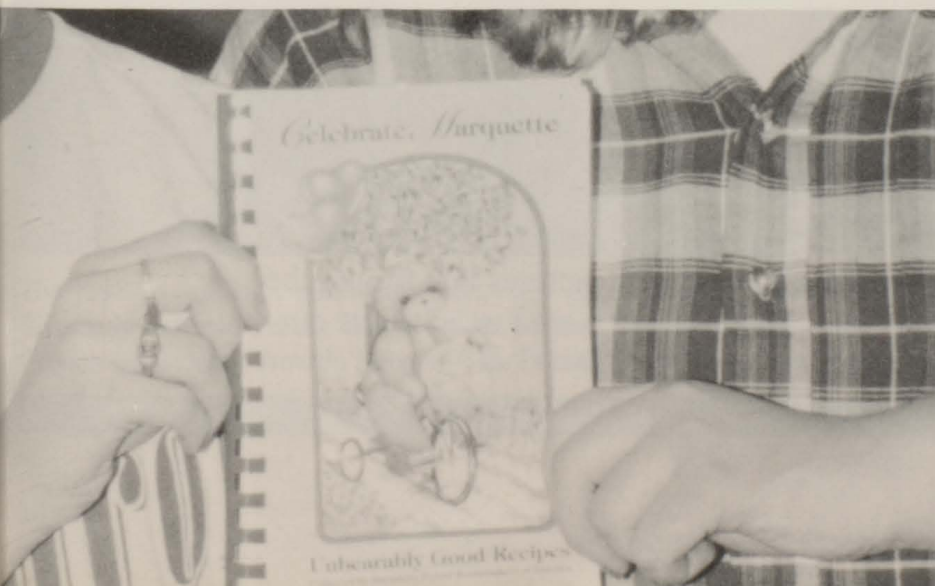

In additon to the cookbook the FHA was able to hos the annual Easter Party. Kimberly Ruzicka and Dara Andersen were the chairmen and they planned a very fun and exciting party. The FHA also hosted a play called Harvest For A Life Time for the school. All in all the FHA had a very productive year and many of the people in the communtiy were very pleased with what they had done.

Shakespeare Would Be Proud!

Amelia as the 'happy housewife'?!?

K "Kiss me Kate!" Was a line that was heard often in Marquette's production of The Taming of the Shrew.

There was a limited number for try-outs; however, it was probably the most successful play production for Marquette in several years.

The Drama team also welcomed a new coach. With an outstanding background in the fine arts, Ms. Lionberger was able to add fresh ideas and also helped the team to understand the language of Shakespeare in order to make it

"Shakespeare is hard stuff!"

Ms. Lionberger
Drama Coach

accessible to the audience members. They first performed The Taming of the Shrew at Crossroads Conference. Although they did not score as well with the judges, other drama coaches and members of the audience commented on Marquette's performance. After working on some minor problems, they were ready for Districts. This time the audience and the judges were impressed by their performance! They were able to come away with third place, and the satisfaction of doing their best!

The 93-94 One-Act play production cast and crew is: (bottom L to R) P.J. The Band Marches for the Last Time

Marquette's Band shows their style at the Harvest of Harmony Parade for the last time. We're ALL in step!

B Marquette High School Band, under the direction of Judi Nelson, marched for the very last time.

The band has been marching in the Harvest of Harmony Parade for many years. This year our candidate for Harvest of Harmony Queen was Amelia Nelson.

The band has also marched in the York Fest Parade and the Fall Harvest Days parade held in Doniphan.

The band spent the year getting ready for parades, concerts, Crossroads Conference, pep rallies and games.

This year, Joe Kisler and Shelton Crouch made CRC Honor Band. Dara Andersen made NMEA All-State, UNO Honor, and Class D All-State Bands.

On top of all of this Shelton Crouch, Dara Andersen, and Brenda Young found time to practice and make Platte Campus Honor Band.

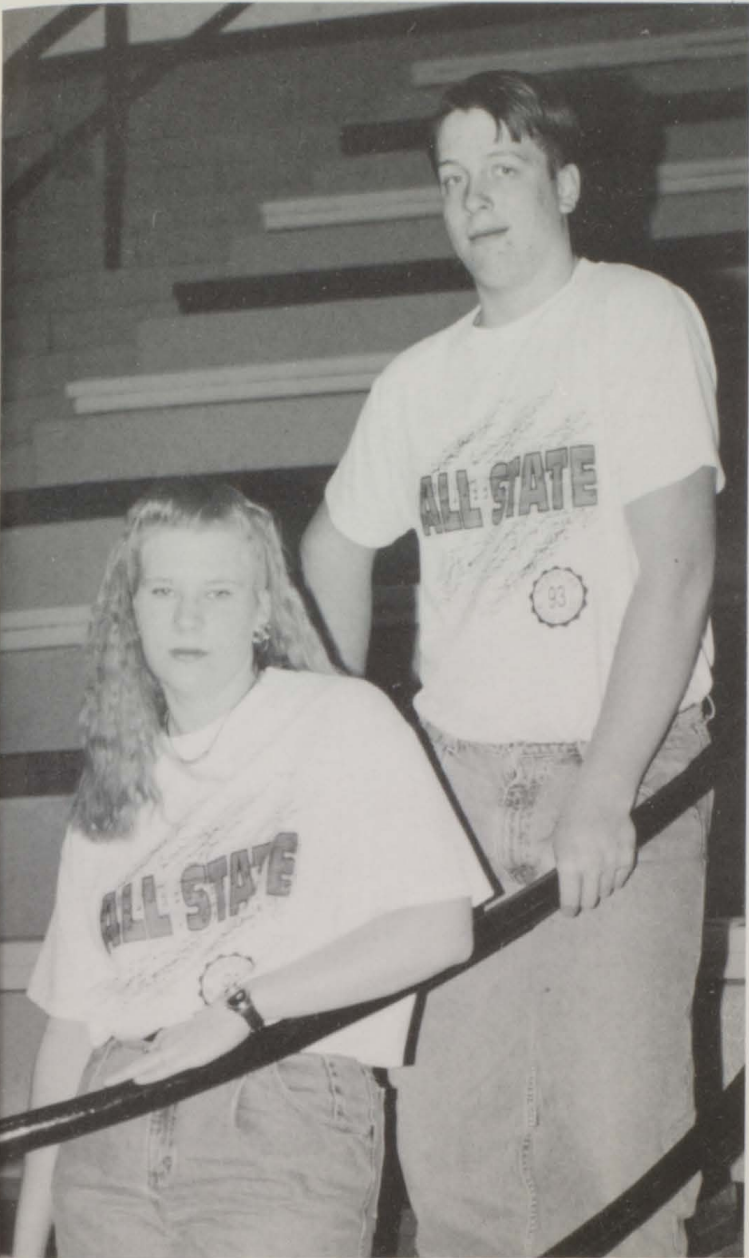

The 1993-94 Banner Carriers were Carrie Brophy and Kathy Penner-- Show us a little leg! Dara Andersen was Drum Majorette.

Amelia Nelson was Harvest of Harmony Queen Candidate. She's got the royal wave!

Looneys with Lungs!

Marquette's High School Chorus, under the direction of Judi Nelson, sang this year at many different places. The chorus sang for the Long Term care unit in Aurora as well as for scheduled concerts. Albion Choral Clinic, CRC, Winter and Spring Concerts.

At Albion there was 899

students from all over. The chorus of Marquette High School hosted a very successful Crossroad Conference. They sang some difficult songs. Joe Kisler made All-State with that ringing tenor voice. Jeff Allen and Joe Kisler also made Platte Campus Honor Choir.

Activities Banquet 1994

The final Activities Banquet of Marquette High was held on April 16, 1994 at 6:00 p.m. in the school gym. The theme for the Banquet was "Timeless" with the colors of Metallic Blue, Black, and Gold. The Master of Ceremonies was Doug Gilson, a former teacher. The dance followed the banquet with the music from Nights of the Turntable with D.J.'s Mitch and Little Dave from Hits 106. The night consisted of many students receiving awards. Amelia Nelson, was the female recipient, and Shelton Crouch, and Brent Jensen were the co-male recipients of the Richie Peterson/Brad Swanson Athlete of the Year Award. The other awards given were: Larissa Jones for the Star Greenhand and Derek Ortegren was given the Star Chapter Farmer. Winners of the Presidential Academic Award were Shannon Sabata, Kristen Hermansen, Shelton Crouch, and Amelia Nelson.

The Last Will & Testament

I, Jeff Allen, being of sound mind and no hair on the knees, do will the following:

To Rick White, my ability to stay in school for three weeks straight • To Tracey, Kristen, Brandi, Sara, Ashley, and P.J., a volume control knob. • To all the teachers, a job at McDonalds, Jim's Food Mart or Monforts • To Mary Ann, a job at Chuck's Drive-in. To Joe Kisler, the ability to eat more pizza than I do. To Dustin Seder, my running ability so that he can run away from his new teachers next year.

I, Dara Andersen, being of sound mind and body, do will the following:

To Kimberly Ruzicka, the ability to break curfew, get phone calls from unknown guys at 2:00 in the morning and still not get in trouble with your parents. • To Mrs. Ziegler, all of the movies that I own so she will have something to do in her spare time next year. • To Mr. Miller, the ability to still get a job in four years when I enter the work force. • To P.J. Wendt, my ability to do Chinese fire drills and find shirts in the freezer. • To every student at M.H.S. the ability to never forget the great friends that you will make in high school or the great times that you will have together no matter where you go.

I, Kevin Christenson, being of sound mind and body will:

My ability to stay out of trouble to Aric Brophy. • My ability to graduate to Rick White. • My sense of humor to Joe Kisler.

I, Heather Howe, will to the following:

To Larissa Jones, my ability to stay sane and keep my cool through the rest of her academic life. • To Mr. Miller, a job as a speech therapist. • To Mrs. Bradshaw, the ability to speak without using big and exotic words and just speak plain English.

I, Brent Jensen, being of soundproof mind and body, do will the following:

To Joe Kisler, my ability to speed and NOT get caught. • To Aric Brophy, my barber because somehow he forgets a strip of hair on the back of his head every time. • To Joey Berck, my big feet because when they grow he will need bigger feet.

I, Amelia Nelson, being of excellent mind will to the following:

To Joe Kisler, my ability to whine to get out of trouble -- so that now you can put all that winning to use. • To Mrs. Bart & Mrs. Ziegler, my reserved personality - since everyone knows Catholic girls are wild. • To Kristen Hermansen, my ability to bite my tongue and not say anything nasty when someone provokes me - at this rate she won't have a tongue left! • To Mrs. Bradshaw, my ability to drive over 45 mph. • To Aric Brophy, my ability to read a watch correctly, so that he can make it home at a decent hour for the first time in his life.

I, Derek Ortegren, of somewhat sound mind and body, will the following:

To Joe Kisler, my ability to speed all the way to the girl's CRC Tournament in York, and not get caught. • To anyone going to Aurora next year, the ability to change your mind. • To Mr. Newquist, my ability to make plans for a shop project and end up with something totally different. • To Roger VanBibber, I will my excellent cementing skills, so that when we drive through the parking lot, our front ends won't go out of our cars.

I, Kathy Penner, will my heart and mind to the following:

To Erica and Quintin - amount to something in life and do what is best for you both. • To my best friend always, Shannon, to know when it is the right time to date again. • To my family, who I love greatly and dearly, the great memories of when I was young and the new memories of the life ahead of me. • To my classmates of 1994, amount to something in life and be the best that each and everyone of you can be. Fulfill your dreams and desires.

I, Carrie Brophy, being of very sound mind and excellent body do will the following to the following peoples. (of Course) To my Conchita Nebanna sister, the ability to buy Skagway specials and have fun doing it!!! • To Mr. Miller, the ability to stand up for the Poor and Uneducated and get extra points for doing it. • To Rick White, the ability to come to school at least one day out of the week and NOT develop a new name for being gone so long. (Simon) • To Brandi Jensen, My Superior ability to annoy the heck out of Brent, but still stay on his good side!! • To Aric Brophy, the ability to wrap you-know-who around your finger.

I, Shelton Crouch, being of sound mind and body, will to the following:

To Travis Crouch, my neck brace - he is showing a promising future. • To Brenda Young and Ashley Johnson, my musical talent. I have plenty to share. • To Aric Brophy, my hands to catch the football.

I, Kimberly Ruzicka, being of sound mind and extremely big feet, do leave to the following:

To the Junior class, the ability to be four different people at the same time. (Don't Ask) • To Kristen Hermansen, The ability to have a terrible day, and be in a terrible mood every once in a while! • To Mr. Miller, the ability to stand up for the poor and uneducated and get extra points for it. • To Joe Kisler, my brand new truck that I got for graduation. • To the flute players, the ability to fake it and still get an A.

I, Jerry Tadlock, being of sound mind and body, will the following:

To the sophomores, my artistic ability. • To Joey Berck, my height. • To Larry Jenkins, my winning smile.

We, the Senior Class, will to the following:

To the class of 95, the ability to still be outspoken even in a different school.

To the class of 96, the ability to be just a little bit more rowdy in school.

To the class of 97, the ability to still get along with your classmates when there are 30 instead of 3.

To the classes of 98 & 99, the ability to find a way to be quiet before the next school year starts.

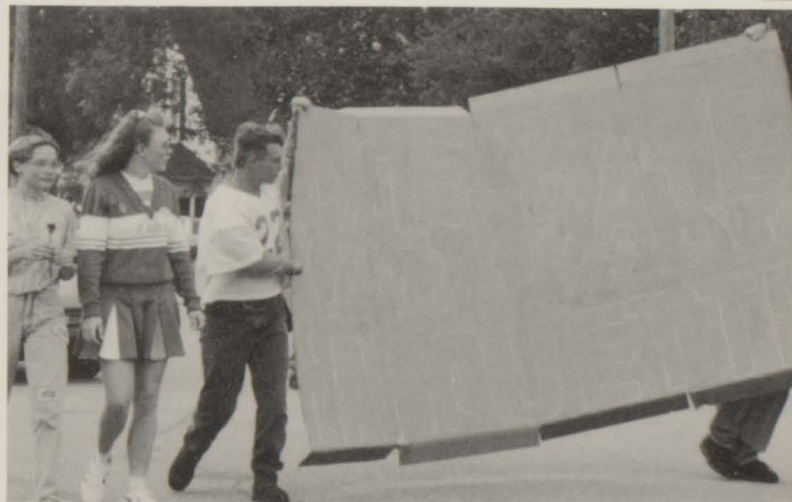

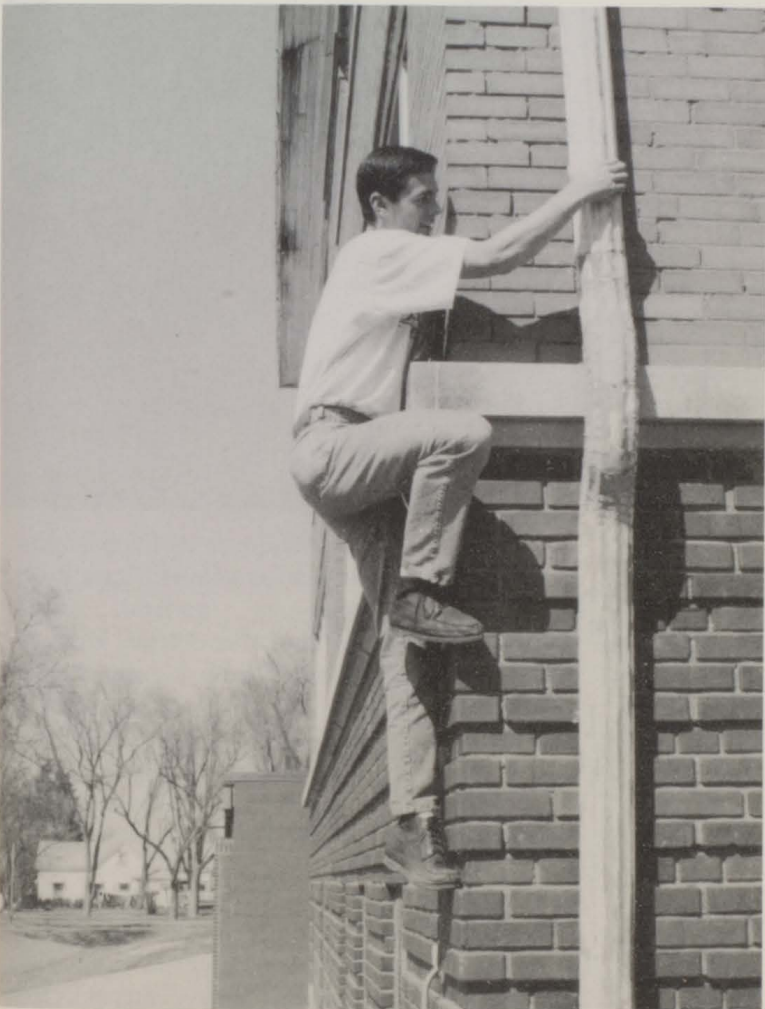

To the teachers, the ability to find perfect students just like us wherever you go.

That's NOT all folks!

A Remembrance . . .

By Shelton Crouch and Amelia Nelson

Many years ago, communities across this nation embarked on an endeavor to ensure the prosperous future of their children and generations of children still to come. This endeavor is an endless path taken by all and yields the highest rewards. I am talking about education. A path in which Marquette's children will cease to follow through our small, but noble community. Our children will not cease to be educated, but will lose the opportunity and closeness of an embracing, Nebraska community.

The Marquette High School and our education endeavor came to a crashing end as the board and community were forced to change to a District I school, eliminating both the high school and junior high school.

The community will never realize what is lost with the abandonment of Marquette High School.

The closing segment of Marquette's final yearbook has been dedicated to the past students and faculty that has made Marquette what it is!

CELEBRATE

Marquette

1884 - 1994

The Beginning: 1884-1919

It began in the 1880's. A small Nebraska community started with an even smaller rural school. From this passive setting blossomed the pride and closeness known to the Marquette Cubs.

The history of the Marquette Cubs will live forever as the high school closes, but we will forever hold the memories that we most cherish. In the proceeding pages, we recall both the history and the memories that grew with Marquette High School through the century.

The history of MHS first began in 1884. Not much is known of the beginning of Marquette High. We have little information to work with during this time period. Julia Shaneyfelt Hanson, class of 1919, is one of the few remaining graduates of this time period that was able to send us information concerning the atmosphere of the newly formed high school.

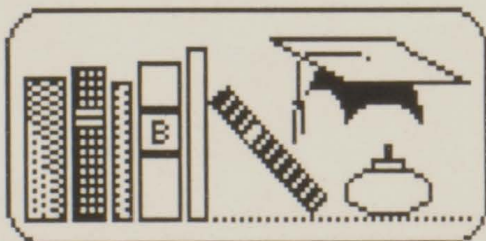

I attended Marquette High School from 1911 at age 11, to 1919 when I graduated. After graduation, Mr. Smeckly (the principal at that time) told me that if I were to go to college and get my teaching degree, he wanted me to come back and teach in Marquette. His wife was teaching at the time, but she wanted to quit. If I agreed to go to college, she would stay in her teaching position until I got my degree.

After attending Kearney State Normal from 1920 to 1921 and graduating, I returned to Marquette to teach for 2 years. I had 30 some pupils each year and truly enjoyed them.

I enjoyed my years in Marquette High School as a pupil, as well as my teaching years there!

History of Marquette•The Town

Early in 1882, the Lincoln Land Company purchased 100 acres from J.W. Marquis, and proceeded to survey and plot a town. It was given the name "Marquette" in honor of the general attorney for the CB&Q Railroad, Thomas Marquette. The land company named the main street "Marquis Avenue" in honor of the original land owner.

Some of the early businesses included several general merchandise stores, a drug store, a harness shop, a blacksmith and wagon maker, a lumberyard, an implement store, a flour mill, a creamery which made cheese, three grain elevators, two hotels, a restaurant, a hardware and furniture store, and a saloon. You could even buy a casket at one of the general stores, and O.T. Greer, who ran the tin shop, was the undertaker. The town also had a newspaper, a doctor, a dentist, and a veterinarian.

There was one church in this area, served by circuit riders before the railroad had arrived. Once the town was established, that congregation and two others built churches. The United Methodists had the only church in town; however, it recently closed on January 23, 1994 because of a declining membership. There are two country churches nearby; St. John's Lutheran Church and Mamre Evangelical Church.

The Village of Marquette was incorporated in March 1889. The governing body was, and still is, a board of trustees consisting of five elected officials.

Fires in 1906 and 1910 destroyed a number of buildings on both sides of the main street. Marquette's records were destroyed, making the complete record of our town impossible to verify.

History of the Marquette Public Schools

The first school, a two-room building opened in 1884. Until the late 1890's, the Marquette school had only eight grades. At this time ninth and tenth grades were added.

It was replaced with a brick structure in 1913, providing classrooms for K-12. The south half of the older part of the present building was built in the early 1900's, and in the 1920's the north half was added. In 1980, the present elementary building was built, and all high school classes were moved to the old building.

Some of the early teachers were O.B. Blockman, Lottie Key, and Katherine and Clara Seiver.

The 1919 graduating class pose beside the old Marquette High School building.

Marquette High School Grows... 1920-1929

Sport Photos

In the year 1920-1929, the school seemed to develop more. Marquette High School now had a boys and girls basketball teams and a baseball team. The 1926-1927 girls and boys basketball teams were quite successful in winning honors in their chosen sport. The addition of these extra-curricular activities added diversity to the school environment and atmosphere.

We have received several pieces of information on this time period, and are only capable of showing bits and pieces of it.

Opal Funkhouser Conger has vivid memories of Marquette High School. She started to attend Marquette High School in 1927. Opal enjoyed the classes, and she attended most of the basketball games in the old gym in the basement.

We also received a letter from Ellen Esakson Rhodes that gives present day readers a taste of what school was like in the 1920's.

I have very fond memories of Marquette High School, which I attended in 1924-1928. I was no "painted angel" through these years as anyone my age, who was in school at the same time will tell you. Never the less, I studied hard, graduated with honors and took professional training and went on to Kearney State College the following summer. I played basketball all 4 years. One year we won the county tournament. Discipline was strict in those years, and students respected their teachers, and were punished for disobedience. For instance, one warm day several of us decided to skip school after lunch. We felt very smug until the next morning coming back to school, we were met by the teachers and told we were expelled until we had excuses written by our parents. In those days that wasn't easy to come by as parents upheld the teachers. For me, it took some pleading for my parents to say, "You go back to school and don't let this happen again." Fun days and serious days but good memories!

Student's Achievements...

Marquette High School made its impact in the Conference scene as the school took trophies in 1932, 1934, 1935, and 1937. MHS students earned honors in tennis, basketball, baseball, and drama as they excelled in both the academic and athletic fields.

During the mid-1930's, the town of Marquette entered the newscasting field as they created The Marquette News. The newspaper included sports, area news, business advertisements, political gossip, and the ever-popular comic section.

The Thirties were a rough time for all who lived on the Great Plains. The Great Depression of the early Thirties reached the Midwest last and was accompanied by the devastation brought by the dust bowl. Students and faculty reminisced in the letters they sent us about the wind and dust storms that would suddenly strike on a hot, clear afternoon. A frequent, more pleasing memory was that of the chocolate cake or the plate of cookies a friend's mother would have after children ventured home from a long day at school.

Some students often walked to school, but others who lived farther away, had the privilege to ride to school in the newly acquired school bus. This innovation in school transportation was driven by Fred Hilligas or Rick Fenster. Fred Hilligas was a previous graduate of MHS!!

Memories

My school days and memories of Marquette Public School have stayed with me through all these years.

There were a lot of good times along with some sad times too. One memory, I shall never forget is the fire drills--going down the outside tube at top notch speed and landing in a pile of sand.

I was sad to hear that this was the end of 9-12 grades, but as time marches on, changes must be made to keep up with the demand of a better education.

Class of 1935

For those of us who entered Marquette High School in the fall of 1931, it was the best of times and it was the worst of times. During the four years we attended high school there was drought, dust storms, and the depression. At the same time there was youthful enthusiasm, the excitement of new experiences, and the building of life-long friendships among the classmates of the class of '35.

For a country boy of 14 who had attended a one-room rural school, the two-story brick building with its tubular fire escape was impressive and somewhat intimidating. So with a school drivers permit and an old used car that could be left at grandmother's house, the transition from an eighth-grade class of two to a freshman high school class of 25 seemed like a big leap into the unknown.

With little money and limited budgets, we used stencils and mimeographs to publish the school paper. Decorations for school banquets and parties involved generous use of crepe paper and little else. Our basketball team was pretty good but we could never beat Stockham, but our baseball team won a couple of conference championships. These were the only two sports that the school had at that time.

Our Class is approaching its 60th Anniversary in 1995, and although the school is closed and the building gone, the loyalties, the memories, and the friendship remain strong. Hopefully the class of '35 can renew ties, memories, and friendships with a bang-up reunion in '95.

L.C. Lindgren Dies Suddenly

Friends of Marquette and elsewhere in Hamilton county were shocked when word reached here of the sudden death of Leonard C. Lindgren, 41, which occurred last Friday evening at Tekamah while he was attending the football game, being played between that town and Wahoo where he has been serving as principal of the high school. Mr. Lindgren, who had accompanied the team to Tekamah, was apparently in his usual health, and when he went into the dressing room between halves he was suddenly stricken and passed away at once.

The Lindgren family was very popular in the Marquette community where he had spent 15 years with the Marquette school. He served as principal for four years, and after an absence of two years returned there as superintendent for 11 years. The family moved to Wahoo in the fall of 1942.

During the last 12 years, he has devoted his time and talents to the teaching profession, first at Marquette, Neb., and then at Wahoo. Mr. Lindgren died at Tekamah, Nebr., last Friday evening, September 17, 1943, and was therefore at his death 41 years and 25 days old.

Superintendent L.C. Lindgren graced us with his presence here at Marquette school, in the years 1927-1942.

Memories 1940-1949

The memories of the 1940's were a reflection of both the past and the decades to come. The memories of MHS are all similar in the fact that they were influenced by the decade before. The past of Marquette lives on with those who remember their high school experiences.

I have many fond memories of Marquette High School and some not so fond. I recollect one incident when a student sitting in the assembly room on the north side next to a bookcase was called impertinent by the teacher, Mrs. Goodenough. That was actually her name. The student not knowing for sure what the word meant, reached for the dictionary and was looking up the word when Mrs. Goodenough came directly to the desk of the same student. She grabbed the dictionary and returned it to the bookcase. The student had an extra ninth period to spend after school for his impertinence.

I am thankful for the education I received at Marquette, first grade through twelfth grade.

Maurice Stalnaker

Class of 1940

The athletes of Marquette experienced the thrill of victory and the heartbreaking agony of defeat. The women, during the 1940's, were the dominant force. The girl's softball team finished with an undefeated season and a Central Nebraska Conference Championship in 1949. They also had an undefeated season in volleyball.

The Marquette students had more than just athletic success. They were highly skilled competitors in the academic field. During the 1940's the Marquette Music Department pulled in a third place finish at the conference level. The drama class was also busy bringing forth the production of plays titled "This Night Beware", "Meet the Jeep", and "He Couldn't Marry Five"

This is a memory from a student of the class of 1947:

What tricks our memories play on us! Sometimes I try so hard to remember something specific in my past and do not succeed. On the other hand, memories pop into my head of events or persons, and I wonder why they are there.

Memories of my time at Marquette High are many and varied. If I let my mind wander, I can see the stairs just inside the front door, the stairs leading up to the high school auditorium and the classrooms. Each day was busy with classes, but I loved the activity. My special memories were those of the times I spent in music related activities. God blessed me with the ability to sing, and I enjoyed every opportunity to use my voice. The times I sang in the high school chorus and in the district music contests were especially memorable.

I'll always have a special place in my heart for my eight classmates. I'll never forget how we all cried the night we graduated, probably because we finally made it and also because we cared about one another. I also appreciated each one of my teachers. They gave their time and abilities to further my education.

FRESHMAN INITIATION OF 1946

The class of 1949 was initiated into Marquette High School on Friday, September 14. The class members came to school that day in very quaint attire, including shirts on backward, and curlers in the hair.

In the evening, the seniors endeavored to show them a good time, by blindfolding them, feeding them worms, and taking them for an airplane ride to aid their digestion. Blindfolds removed, the freshmen participated in a truth or consequences program. Inasmuch as not one question was answered right, all contestants had to pay the consequences. As a result, the stage was thoroughly scrubbed with tooth brushes, and we witnessed several very romantic proposals and various other forms of entertainment.

The spirits of the performers were revived by a delicious lunch and big dishes of ice cream. The seniors should like to think that the freshmen have forgiven them by now.

The senior portrait of Gladys Larsen, class of 1946. One of many represented in the pages of the 10 yearbooks of the 1940 decade.

I was in the class of 1944, so you must remember there was a period when we were kind of the bottom of the barrel for young teachers, and I must admit the students really took advantage of some of the older teachers, like giving book reports on Big-Little Books. I mean oral book reports on Dick Tracy and so you can imagine the laughter and carrying on of the classroom. I can also remember the merits and demerit system, when you had to have 70 merits to play sports and of staying in after school for ninth period to bring our total merits up to 70 so we could play basketball that night. We started the school year with 100 merits and got demerits for not following all the rules and such.

*Guy Nielsen
Class of 1944*

The ten players on the 1948 boy's basketball team happily represented the best of the athletes at Marquette High.

The Senior's Farewell

How years do come, and years do go,
 The last one fast, the first one slow,
 Hard seemed our tasks, when first begun,
 Now looking back they seemed but fun,
 What lofty wishes met our Freshman gaze,
 What noble purpose to win the teacher's praises,
 What little tho't of flunks or falls;
 When first we entered high school walls.

But listen now to sorrows late,
 For sorrows come to all who fail,
 Who year by year must pay the toll,
 Of failures made to reach the goal.
 In Math and Chem. and History too,
 We almost met our Waterloo
 But, with our teacher's cheer and zest
 We won the victory more or less.

Who'll e'er forget the nods and smiles,
 The social walks for miles and miles,
 The parting hand shake at the gate,
 The lingering wish to make a date?
 We cherish long our school friends,
 We'll wish them back, tho' far or near,
 We'll bear in memory more our sacred trust
 What Marquette High has meant to us.

The Marquette Pep Club of 1947 poses with pride in front of the old building.

Memories

"1950, what a year." We started our freshman year with seven students. They were Alan Nissen, Robert Nelson, Don Fenster, Marion Larsen, Delores Allen, Francis Simmermen and Rueben Maltson; and we survived our freshman year.

Our sophomore year there were only four boys left in the class. They were Don Fenster, Robert Nelson, Alan Nissen, and Marion Larsen. The main topics on our minds were cars, girls, and we did get some studying in.

We continued on thru our junior and senior years putting on one act plays with help of the sophomores and junior girls, by the time we were seniors we had saved a good amount of money thru our efforts and bought a new electric scoreboard for our gym. We even had enough money left to go to Chicago for our sneak trip for four days. What fun we had when we went to a Cubs baseball game. We also saw the Aragon Ballroom and the old radio show called "Don McNeal's Breakfast Club". Mr. Clark was our sponsor and we drove in his 1947 Chevy. What a growing experience that was.

I want to pay tribute to one of the greatest and most respected teachers ever. Mrs. Wanda Jacobsen who is now in her mid 90's is a wonderful lady.

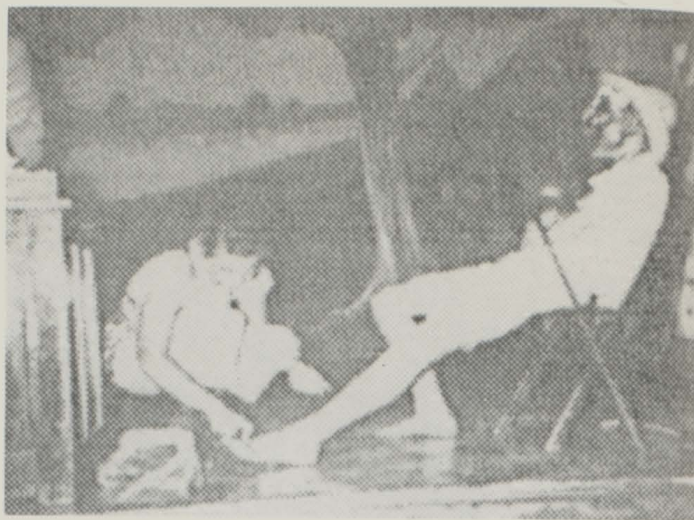

So goodbye Marquette High. You have done many, many people well.

We Love You

Success in the 1950's

As we move through the decades of Marquette history we come to the middle of the twentieth century; the 1950's. Marquette's success during the 50's spanned not only through the athletic competition but also the scholastic field. The feeling of pride and success was felt throughout the high school as trophy after trophy was rewarded to MHS during the 1950's. Sports and scholastics was not the main event on the calendar year after year. Chorus, concerts, journalism, the everyday stress of homework, and graduation occupied conversations and minds of the Marquette students as well.

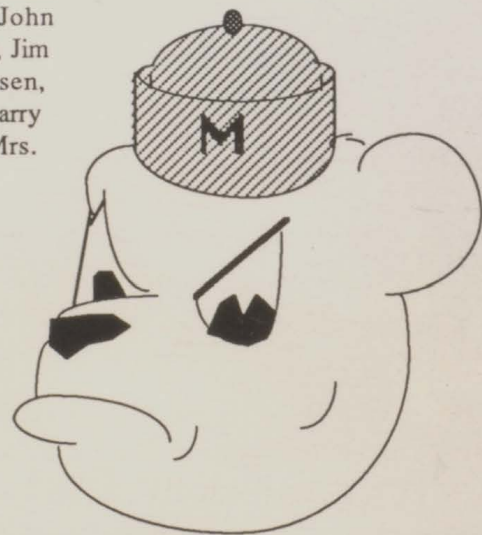

The Marquette Cubs made an outstanding impact on the Central Nebraska Conference. The Cub's boys won CNC first place in baseball in '59 and basketball in 1955. While the boy's teams showed success in their sports the girls made even a bigger showing on the conference scene. During the 1950's the girls won the CNC championship in softball during the '50, '51, and '52 seasons. They also finished second in the conference basketball tournament and third in the Hordville Basketball Invite. The Cub's success also branched from athletics to scholastics and drama. The drama success of the Cubs included firsts in '51, '56, and Class B first in 1953. Conference placings were also awarded to MHS during 1955, '56, '57, '58 in Declamatory; '51, '55 in Commercial; and '54, '56 in Scholastic.

A Championship Decade

One of the events of my school years in Marquette is my noon time weddings. Jay Vetter and Judy Wall, and Doyle Christenson and myself got married almost every week over the noon hour in second grade. The weddings would always go off in good or bad weather in the square of trees on the playground. The rest of the class would do all the other parts and we married over and over again. Today Doyle Christenson is my brother-in-law and Jay Vetter is my cousin; both by "marriage". I haven't seen Judy Wall since she left to attend a private high school. I truly did enjoy my school years at Marquette.

*Linda Ortegren Christenson
Marquette student 1960 to 69*

This is just one of the memories from the students of Marquette. Marquette was not only made up of maturing young men and blossoming young ladies. We also must include the young children who eventually became these adolescents. As they grew older, they made many new friends, strengthened old friendships, learned new things, and eventually entered high school. From then on they competed in athletic and academic competitions, studied subjects ranging from math, to biology, to home ec, and also participated in school activities and clubs. During the 1960's, students had several choices of extra-curricular activities including football, basketball, track, cross country, baseball, volleyball, pep club, M-club, music, band, speech, National Honor Society, Future Homemakers of America, National Thespian Society, Drama, and Student Council. A list not always as long and available for students of large schools.

Throughout the 1960's the students of Marquette had much success and brought many athletic and academic trophies to the trophy case. One of the most celebrated trophies of the 60's was that of the 1966 Boys State Basketball Championship. The Cubs of '66 compiled a tremendous winning mark of 25 and 3, but what was (continued on next page)

Bruce Rahrs shows his shooting style as he poses for the 1960 basketball page. Every year the senior players took time to pose for the annual. This is just one example of the player's flamboyance.

This is just one of the poses the cheerleaders used during 1962. They displayed great pride and school spirit as they supported the Marquette Cubs throughout the decades. Thanks Sherry Davis and all the other girls who participated over the years.

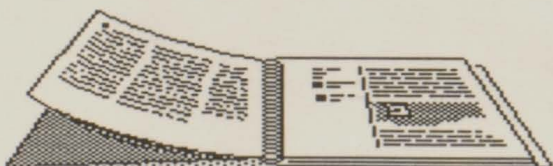

Roger Petersen works on his "roulette wheel" for the 1966 "M" Club carnival. The "M" Club was a service organization that turned its funds into improvements for the school. The carnival had an egg throw, pony rides, a dart throw, a paddle-wheel, and a dunking machine as the main attractions.

more outstanding was the heart and skill they showed in every game they played on their way to the state title. The state championship trophy was well adorned in its own case, and would later be joined by another in the early 80's; but that is another story.

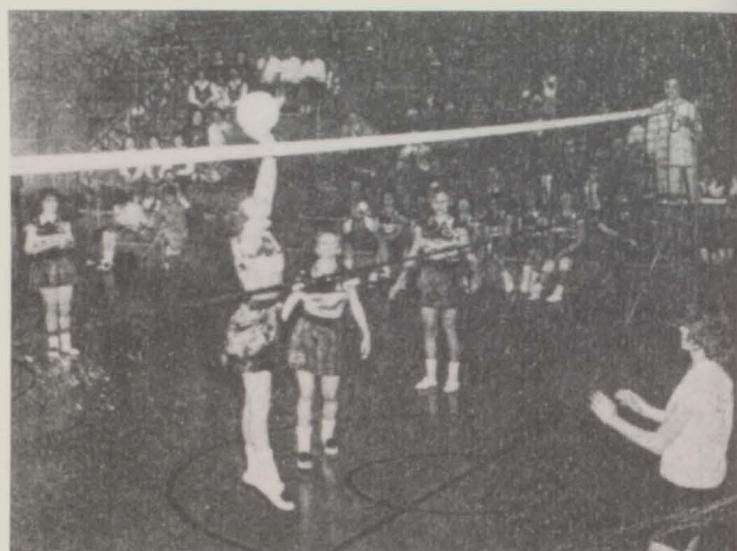

During the decade of the 60's the Cubs compiled impressive marks but also learned that winning wasn't everything in high school sports. It was the pride in their school and community that counted. The young women of Marquette won 52 games and lost 82 in volleyball while the men posted marks of 9 and 5 in three years of baseball, 10 and 42 with 2 ties in six years of football, and 129 and 94 in basketball.

Townpeople of Marquette Greet Class D Champs

Nearly 200 happy Marquette townspeople greeted the returning Class D basketball champs Saturday night at the Marquette gym. Sleepy-eyed children, as well as some adults, cheered loudly when the squad entered the building at 11 p.m.

After a flurry of picture taking, the residents offered their verbal congratulations and viewed over the giant championship trophy.

Where to place that trophy had been the conversation of the greeters long before the team arrived. The beautiful hand-crafted trophy case, built by a former Marquette student, was full of other trophies and did not provide enough room for shelves to clear the new piece.

The problem Monday was momentarily solved by cutting out the shelf in a smaller case nearby to place that trophy and the district tokens.

Other problems arose throughout tourney-time when basketball fever struck the little town. Marquette was all but locked up Thursday when their team went against Cairo. Friday's situation didn't improve the complexion, but with the televising of the championship game, several stores were open.

One Marquette fan had the misfortune of having his car break down enroute to the Friday tilt. After distributing his riders in two other passing cars, he continued to the coliseum. Enroute, he was asked if he wanted to stop and make arrangements to have his car repaired or towed, he quipped: "Heck no. . . we've got to get to the ball game. . . we'll worry about that later."

Fans may have noticed coach Lee Penner sitting tightly to the bench in the final stanza of the Sprague-Martell clash. It seems he jumped up earlier in the game and ripped the seat out of his pants.

Remembering the 1970's.....

The Class of 1970. We are survivors. The class motto was LOOK UPWARDS, NOT DOWNWARDS, and I'm sure many of us have put that saying to test in dealing with the challenges of our careers and families. I thought it would be interesting to consider the changes we've witnessed during the 23 years following High School.

We were before Xerox; Betty P. was always an excellent Office Practice student as well as worked on the Newsletter and gladly would have turned in that old mimeograph for a nice copier.

We got married first and then lived together. How quaint can you be? Don R. and Judy R. have proved that our theory worked! In our times closets were for clothes, not for "coming out of". Bunnies were small rabbits--and rabbits were not Volks-wagons. Having a meaningful relationship meant getting along with our cousins; Roger C. and Wayne J. always did quite nicely. A "chip" meant a piece of wood from Mr. Otteman's shop, hardware meant hardware and software wasn't even a word; I understand, however, that Lyle P. has made the transition quite nicely and uses all kinds of computers in his career.

"Made in Japan" meant junk, however, Steve R. uses alot of that high quality Japanese technology in his farming and dairy operation. "Aids" were helpers in either the gradeschool rooms or Mr. Zichek's office--Opal J.'s career in the medical field has made her quite aware of a different meaning of the word.

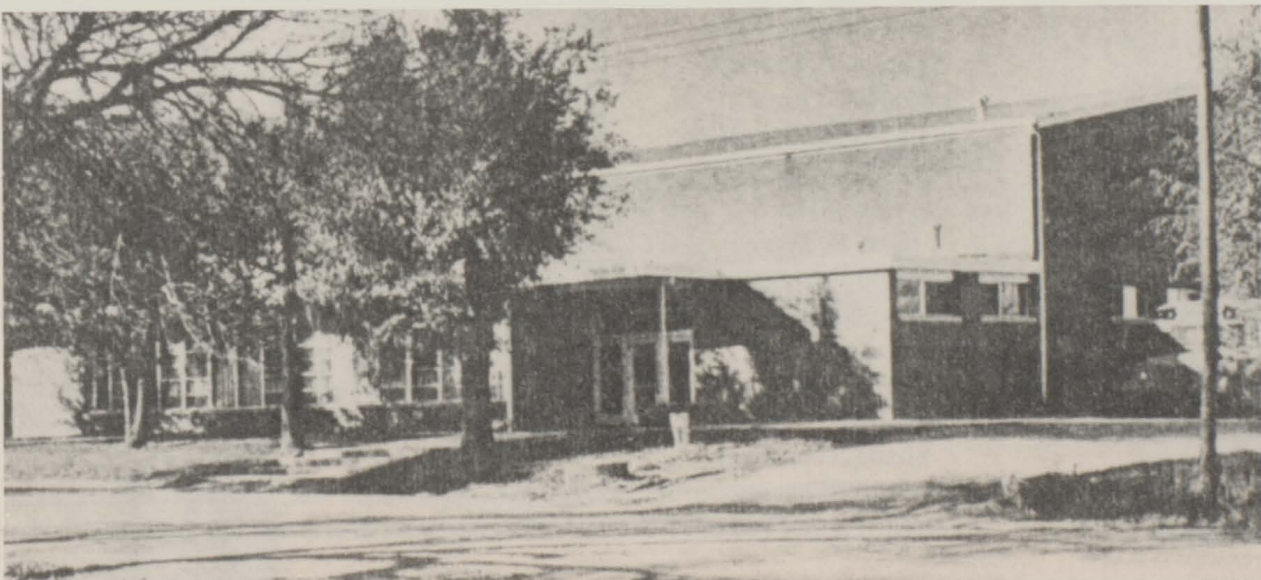

We thought fast food was calling Karen's grandma at the cafe uptown and ordering about a dozen hamburgers real quick.....of course we had to sneak uptown to get them and sometimes we got caught!?!? Thank goodness McDonald's hadn't been invented yet or we would have been in bigger trouble. Bob S. was usually our get-away driver.

In our day cigarette smoking was fashionable, grass was mowed, coke was a cold drink, and pot was something you cooked in. Murray C., Rex R., and Todd H. were always in trouble for smoking cigarettes --they even brought chewing tobacco to English one day!?!?

Gay rights, computer dating, and computer marriages had not been invented yet. We were certainly not before the difference between the sexes were discovered, but surely before the sex change---we made do with what we had!! Nancy R. got married shortly after graduation and continues to be happily married to her husband. We were before house-husbands and dual careers, but I understand that Carolin R. and her husband are handling things nicely.

No wonder we are so confused and there is such a general gap. But we survived. What better reason to celebrate that we graduated from Marquette High School!!

The Memories of the 1980's

As I take a moment to remember the past, I struggle to commit to paper the fondness I feel for my small town beginning and the years I spent at Marquette High. Memories of Mike Johnston and I inciting political debates with Mr. Jacobsen in an attempt to squander valuable Trigonometry class time and running Mr. Gilson's mandatory five "alpines" for even a hint of acknowledgment by a basketball player that women still exist after the final bell rings.

This final year of Marquette High coincides with the year that I will attend our ten year class reunion. This school year is also the ten year anniversary of Mr. Abele leading our football team to Marquette's second, and now last, state championship ever. That was a proud year when Todd Danhauer and I as co-captains accepted the state championship trophy from Superintendent Panning. The most pivotal single play that I remember was the fourth quarter extra point attempt against Giltner in which I connected with Gary Young on a ten yard pass that proved to be the difference in our 14-12 victory. That victory, when coupled with our final regular season victory over McCool Junction, clinched the Crossroads Conference Championship.

I also hold very fond memories of my father from that year. One of which being when he and I, along with many other members of the community, in an attempt to keep the semi-final game against Filley at home, cleared the football field with rakes and shovels twice after snowfalls the evening before and the morning of the game.

Since graduation in 1984, I have graduated college from UNL and joined the Naval Civil Engineer Corps. Throughout my travels in the Navy, I have had the opportunity to meet many new people with very diverse backgrounds. I am continually amazed at the number of people who claim to be from a "small town" and attempt to qualify their contention by explaining that their high school graduating class was only 120 or 180. Immediately following my recitation of a rural hometown with a population of 300 and a graduating class of nine (seven guys and two girls), there is always a barrage of amusing comments concerning dating local cattle and three-man basketball. (continued on next page.)

The winning float of the 1983 homecoming parade is presented to us by the Marquette Junior High.

A familiar scene from the Marquette gridiron. The Cubs won the state championship in 1983.

The 1986 Cub Band stands at attention before practice.

Kevin Hutsell and Rhonda Joyner have one last rehearsal before showtime.

As their laughter subsides to a chuckle, I simply smile and nod as I realize the many benefits of true small town life. I am very proud to have my name listed among the alumni of Marquette High.

I was saddened when I heard this would be the last year for the High School at Marquette. I once had plans of returning to my hometown and having my children graduate from Marquette just as my father did in 1951 and I in 1984. With the death of my father in 1989 and now the closing of Marquette High in 1994, I realize that life is a continuing of late marches on with a natural progression from small to large. . . but I also know that big, in many cases, is not better.

*Kevin L. Hutsell
Class of 1984*

Memories will forever linger in the back of our minds. To a community of only 300 people the importance of a school far outweighs that of a town of 30,000 or 300,000 people. The school keeps us together and helps to bring people together. The many events that took place during the 1980's at Marquette High always drew a crowd. Whether it be the evening game or the school play, there was always someone to watch and appreciate. The crowds at Marquette functions always helped to bring out the best in the students. That will always be remembered.

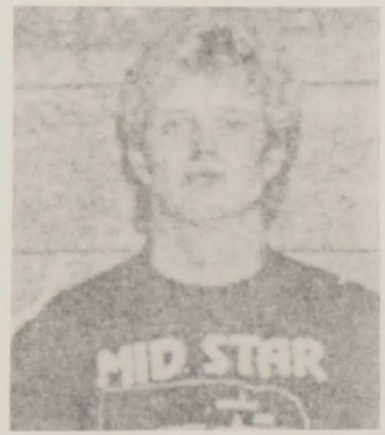

Finally a brave volunteer to answer the difficult question.

The Beginning of the End.....1990-1994

I never thought I would have seen the day when they would close Marquette High, but it has come, and I am now a member of the last graduating class of Marquette High School. I have mixed emotions as I think about this. I am happy that I am graduating, but sad to know that no other class will graduate.

I have a lot of fond memories of this school. I can remember when we were in elementary that we always used to play dodgeball, however for Carrie Brophy and Jamie Andersen that was not enough excitement.....they usually tackled Brent Jensen, Shane Teel, and Ryan Peterson and kissed them on the playground. It's nice to see things haven't changed much!!!!

High school also held very fond memories for me. I loved playing volleyball and basketball games, cheering on the football and basketball boys as they played, and the victory celebrations after a hard earned win.

As you can see, Marquette High School holds many memories for me. It's hard to say good-bye to the school, and I am definitely going to miss it and the friendships that were established here.

I didn't attend Marquette High School, but I have substituted in the Marquette School--both elementary and high school for about eighteen years. The staff and students are such an inspiring and caring group.

I'll never forget my 80th birthday. At the school, I was greeted with the Happy Birthday song, balloons, streamers, and a bounteous meal all in my honor. What a memory!!!

THANKS A BUNCH

At this time, we'd like to thank the alumni, students, and teachers that helped us create the history section by giving us pictures and memories from your high school days to use. Without your help the history section would never have been completed.

Thank you very much for your support and help!!

That's All Folks . . . 1913 - 1994

July 20, 1994, exactly two months after the school year finished, the high school was torn down. It didn't go down easily, in fact it seemed to resist the blows of the mighty excavating machine. It must have had a really strong heart! We'll miss you.

Still visible during the demolition was the painting on the wall in Mrs. Ziegler's room.
